Do we have a local attitude problem? Analytics over Bias in Assessing Risk/Reward

1

Is the Central New York history of relocations causing too much skepticism?

2

Why aren't more local investors and developers part of the coming expansion?

3

International, national and super-regional interests will benefit, and that's a good thing!

Do we have a local attitude problem? Analytics over Bias in Assessing Risk/Reward

4

Can local investors and others be part of the growth?

5

How can our projects help attract more quality employers, captivate talent and support continuous growth?

6

How can our region have projects that look like they do in other parts of the country?

Great Northern Mall

- The visionary project is the first of its kind in upstate NY, inspired by County Executive Ryan McMahon's comprehensive plan to create vibrant "town centers" throughout the county.
- The project reflects our local commitment to addressing the housing shortage and accommodating expected growth from Micron.
- The project will be a live work play community that will include heath care, entertainment, grocery, retail and a range of community amenities.

Lakeshore Village

- Consistent with Onondaga County's comprehensive plan to create vibrant "town centers."
- Reimaging a country club into a flourishing lakefront resort village.
- Upscale community with restaurants, entertainment, retail shops and residential housing.
- Essential for attracting and recruiting employees to Central New York; just a short drive from the growing White Pine site.
- When complete, this $500 million+ investment will create a first-of-its-kind lakefront community on the shores of Oneida Lake.
